FACTS IN NATURE.

Not Only Do We Get Inspiration From Nature, But Health as Well.

For people who are run-down and nervous, who suffer from indigestion or dyspepsia, headache, biliousness, or torpid liver, coated tongue with bitter taste in the morning and poor appetite, it becomes necessary to turn to some tonic or strengthener which will assist Nature and help them to get on their feet and put the body into its proper condition. It is becoming more and more apparent that Nature's most valuable health-giving agents are to be found in forest plants and roots.

Nearly forty years ago, Dr. R. V. Pierce, now consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y., discovered that by scientifically extracting and combining certain medicinal principles from native roots, taken from our American forests, he could produce a medicine which was marvelously efficient in curing cases of blood disorder and liver and stomach trouble as well as many other chronic, or lingering ailments. This concentrated extract of Nature's vitality he named "Golden Medical Discovery." It purifies the blood by putting the stomach and liver into healthy condition, thereby helping the digestion and assimilation of food which feeds the blood. Thereby it cures weak stomach, indigestion, torpid liver, or biliousness, and kindred derangements.

If you have coated tongue, with bitter or bad taste in the morning, frequent headaches, feel weak, easily tired, stitches or pain in side, back gives out easily and aches, belching of gas, constipation, or irregular bowels, feel flashes of heat alternating with chilly sensations or kindred symptoms, they point to derangement of your stomach, liver and kidneys, which the "Golden Medical Discovery" will correct more speedily and permanently than any other known agent. Contains no alcohol or habit-forming drugs. All its ingredients printed in plain English on wrapper.

The sole motive for substitution is to permit the dealer to make a little more profit. He gains; you lose. Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery."

Constipation causes and aggravates many serious diseases. It is thoroughly cured by Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. One a laxative; two or three are cathartic.

APPEARING OLD

You cannot afford to grow old.

In these days of strenuous competition it is necessary to maintain, as long as possible ones youthful appearance.

The presence of Dandruff indicates the presence of a burrowing germ which lives and thrives on the roots of the hair until it causes total baldness.

Newbro's Herpicide is the only known destroyer of this pest, and it is as effective as it is delightful to use.

Accept no substitute—there is none.

Summer Clothing.

The main objects of all summer clothing are to favor the rapid evaporation of bodily heat and at the same time to repel the direct rays of the sun. Various fabrics differ in fulfilling such requirements. Texture and color have also a great deal to do with the results. White absorbs the heat least and reflects it most. Then come the various colors as modifying influences in their due turn—yellow, red, green, blue and black.

As to fabric, the outer garments are best made of cotton or linen, the inner of light and wide-meshed wool. When wool irritates the skin cotton or linen is a second choice. Another advantage of woolen undergarments is that they can be worn of different weights in all seasons. For obvious reasons, then, the first change from heavy to light clothing should be in the outer garments, more particularly as they can be more readily adapted to our frequent changes of climate, even during the summer months.

Perspiration, disagreeable as it is when excessive, is only one of nature's cooling processes. The aim of all light clothing is to give the evaporation the freest possible vent through suitable airy textures. In a certain sense we can get as effectual breathing through our skin as through our lungs, at least so far as balancing many of the more important functions of heat equilibrium. In this respect we have the great advantage over the canine tribe in changing our coats and not depending on the forced draft of panting respiratory movements. —[New York Herald.

Killed His Rival.

Because of jealousy over a pretty young maid employed on the country estate of Col. Ellsworth Van Tassell, at Pleasantville, in the northern part of Westchester county, N. Y. Saturday, George Allen shot and killed his rival for the girl's hand, an employe named James, and then fled.

A posse of farmers chased and cornered the alleged slayer in a stable, and kept guard over him until Under Sheriff Chas. M. Lane and a corps of deputy sheriffs arrived.

This is the third murder which has occurred in Westchester county within a week, and Under Sheriff Lane made a record run in an automobile to capture his man.

The two men, who were employed by Colonel Van Tassell, quarreled about the girl on Friday night.

"I'll put your light out if you don't leave that girl alone," Allen is alleged to have said.

When the men reached the breakfast table Saturday the feud was renewed and James slapped Allen in the face. Allen who had been drinking heavily the night before, went upstairs and got a revolver. He returned and walking up to his man, it is declared, shot him four times. The shooting occurred in the dinning-room, and when the Van Tassell family came in they found the table overturned, and the evidences of a struggle.

The maid is said to have favored the dead man.

Hanged and Burned.

A negro who committed a criminal assault on the sixteen-year-old daughter of Ira Robertson, near Womack, Indian Territory, was captured Saturday night, and, after being taken to the scene of the crime, was hanged and burned. He confessed his guilt and offered no resistence to the mob. The negro gave his name as Cliff Mays, of Marshall, Tex., and also as Will Newbright, of San Antonio. The negro was overtaken near Bradley by 400 men. It was 3 o'clock yesterday morning when the Robertson home was reached. The negro was brought before Miss Robertson.

"That's the one," said she at once.

The negro replied: "Yes, lady, I'm the one. Gentlemen, I admit the crime."

The mob then took the negro to a tree on the bank of Walnut creek. He was given an opportunity to speak, and he again confessed his guilt, and offered a fervent prayer to God for forgiveness. He was then drawn into the air to die by strangulation.

Before life was extinct the body was lowered to the ground. Logs and brush were heaped on the man and the mass ignited. The body writhed, a few groans were heard, and the flames completed the work.

Two hours later the charred body was buried under the tree under the direction of a deputy marshal from Purcell, who had been thwarted in his efforts to take the negro from the mob.

The Creed of Anarchy.

Do not labor, but prey upon society. Do nothing useful, but treat as a criminal, guilty of capital punishment, the one who dares be useful. This is the sum of Berkman's teachings. This is the creed of the unspeakable, who has the incomprehensible nerve to stand by the side of the female of his kind and declare that he will continue his "work for humanity."

How civilization bears with comparative equanimity the presence of such unclean growths is one of the marvels of it. There has not in recent years been a cowardly assassination in high place that was not the work of anarchists, and that did not excite at least disguised expressions of sympathy in this country. Anarchy slew McKinley, as it attempted the death of the Spanish King and Queen, while in the space between these events it struck many illustrious names from the roster of the living. Nevertheless, the advocates of assassination may hire a hall, utter their wicked and senseless outcry, incite their followers to do murder and their "bravery" is applauded. —[Philadelphia Ledger.

Buried Alive.

The Ameer of Afghanistan on returning to Kabul last week, after his prolonged tour, found high prices being charged for grain in the capital, and caused supplies to be issued at cheap rates from the State granary at Bamian.

When the Ameer was about to leave Lughmann for Kabul three muftis of the courts were brought up for trial for taking bribes and maltreating the poor.

The Ameer gave orders to the Governor that the three muftis were to be buried alive, and the sentence was duly carried out after the Ameer's departure.

The Ameer proposes to found in the Purwan district a city called after himself. He considers that Kabul is exposed to the danger of foreign invasion, and intends the new city to serve as a refuge in time of emergency.

Nasrullah Khan, his brother, is opposed to the engagement of English women doctors for the royal harem. The Ameer disagrees with his brother, but the weight of opinion is with Nasrullah, and it is hoped that the services of the newly arrived women doctors will before long be dispensed with.

Must Wait Till Prince Weds.

Thousands of the best-looking young women in Korea are languishing in spinsterhood owing to an extraordinary edict of the government.

A year ago the Crown Prince became a widower. Now he has decided to take another wife, and the government officials all over the kingdom have been instructed to forward to Seoul the names and full descriptions of eligible brides.

Meanwhile, instructions have been issued that no young women of the better classes are to be married until the Crown Prince has announced his choice.

The Governors of Kyeng Kye, Chungchulla and Kyong Sang dared to disobey the royal edict and allowed their daughters to marry. They have fallen in great disfavor at court in consequence, and are to be severely punished.

AND VIRGINIA ADVERTISER

MONDAY EVENING. JULY 2, 1906.

THE failure of Congress to legislate as recommended by the State Department so that special favors might be granted to German goods entering this country, may cause a tariff war between the United States and Germany. Last March when the arrangement between the United States and Germany whereby this country was given the benefit of the minimum German tariff rates expired, Germany agreed to have the arrangement extended one year or a part of a year as the German government might see fit on the promise made by the State Department that Congress would legislature so as to permit special favors being given to German shippers to this country in the examination of their goods at American custom houses. To meet the demands of Germany as much as possible, the President issued an executive order granting certain privileges to German shippers, but he could not go far enough under the law, to meet all the requirements of the German government. Congress absolutely declined to take up this matter during the session, just closed and it is feared at the State Department that serious results will ensue which will play havoc with American manufacturers who send a large proportion of their goods to the German market. The only reason which is known at the State Department for the declination of Congress to act on this matter at the recent session is the fear of the "stand-patters" that any reference in debate to tariff matters would bring down upon their heads the storm which has been brewing for some time in the minds of those members of Congress who favor tariff reduction.

A PLAN which has already been agreed to by five counties of Indiana is designed to dispense altogether with the mercenary worker and the venal voter in the coming fall elections. The leaders on both sides have pledged their word as friends and neighbors not to spend a dollar for such purposes. It is agreed that there shall be employed no man who is known to be purchaseable, and the custom of keeping hangers-on at headquarters shall be abandoned. It is also provided that no money shall be paid for taking of thirty-day and sixty-day polls, and where it is necessary to employ labor, both sides shall pay the same wages and employ no man to whom the other would object. Inspectors and judges of election are to be selected entirely outside of those who serve the campaign committee, and, if possible, business men of known integrity are to be chosen. The plan was formulated by leading democrats, and has met with the approval of their political adversaries. Neither the State nor the county committees will pay the expenses of stump speakers, except in the case of men called from other States. Such a plan is a wise one and should be adopted by every State in the union as it is bound to result in honest elections.

BEFORE leaving Trondhjem for North Cape last week Mr. William Jennings Bryan gave a correspondent a statement of his views regarding the scandals in business circles in the United States which have arisen since his departure last summer. Among other things he said:

One of the chief causes of business crookedness in America is the custom of making the same man a buyer in several different corporations which deal with each other. No man can serve two masters in business any more than in religion, and a man who is a director in two companies doing business with each other is very apt to sacrifice the interests of one to the interests of the other. A stockholder has a right to complain if a director who is supposed to look after his interests is also employed to direct the affairs of another concern having interests directly antagonistic.

Mr. Bryan thus tersely gives one of the main causes for much of the corruption among those holding high positions in big corporations and who by their very position should set a better example in society.

A NEW way of conducting elections has been discovered in Panama. Governor Magoon, of the canal zone, brought the leaders of the two Panaman parties together, and the result of the meeting was an agreement upon a mixed ticket composed of constitutionalists and liberals. There will be no opposition to the bi-partisan ticket, which, of course, will be "elected." The Philadelphia Record asks, "Why didn't the leaders agree that Governor Magoon should cast a ballot and thus put the compromise National Assembly in office, without the trouble and expense of opening the polls and going through the motions of voting?

North Carolina Democrats.

Raleigh, N. C., July 2.—Delegates to the democratic State convention are assembling at Greensboro today. The convention meets at noon tomorrow. The principal contest will be over a resolution declaring for a reduction in railroad passenger rates. The convention will probably declare for Wm. J. Bryan and former Governor Aycock, of North Carolina, for President and Vice President.

From Washington.

Washington, July 2.

The following statement was given out at the office of the Isthmian Canal Commission today: "Because of the failure of the Senate to take action looking to the confirmation of the Isthmian Canal Commission, the President, immediately following the adjourning of Congress, appointed a new canal commission with the following members: Theodore P. Shonts, chairman; John S. Stevens, Charles E. Magoon, Peter C. Hains, U. S. A. (retired); Mordecai T. Endicott, U. S. N.; and Benjamin M. Harrod, C. E., U. S. A. Mr. Stevens becomes a member of the commission, vice Brig. Gen. Oswald H. Ernst, C. E., who retired from active service recently and who will hereafter devote his entire time to the international Waterways Commission. Mr. Stevens has in addition to his duties on the commission those of chief engineer. The salaries of the members will remain as heretofore, to draw his salary as chief engineer without extra compensation as a member of the canal commission." It is noticed that the list of members does not include the name of Joseph B. Bishop.

About all the machinery in the War Department has been brought into play to rid the service of a poet. A. L. Price, an enlisted man doing service in the army in the Philippines, is the bard's name. Price wrote about the "rotten" officer, who is alleged to have ordered a band to play "Always in the Way" a marine's funeal at Olongapa, and which action is now being investigated by the government.

The Secretary of the Treasury has issued circulars calling for bids on $30,000,000 Panama canal bonds. Bids are to be received by July 20th. The bonds will bear date of August 1st. They will bear interest of 2 per cent and will be issued in denominations of $20, $100 and $1000 for both coupon and registered series. This makes it a popular loan. The bonds will be redeemable in gold, at the pleasure of the United States, after ten years from issue and payable in 30 years. They are free from tax and available to national banks as security for circulating notes on the same terms as existing 2 per cent consols, and as security for deposits in national banks.

By direction of President Roosevelt, Secretary Wilson of the Agricultural Department today issued an official statement concerning the new system of meat inspection to be immediately put into effect by the department in connection with the law passed by Congress last week. The statement is intended to restore public confidence at home as well as abroad in the canned meat products of American packing houses.

Huntington Wilson, the new third assistant secretary of State, took the oath of office this morning and assumed the duties of his new post. Mr. Wilson who has been for nine years secretary of the American legation, is now an embassy at Tokio. Herbert H. D. Peirce, retiring third assistant secretary, will sail this week for England en route to Norway to become the first minister of the United States to that country.

The Department of Justice is bending every effort to begin the anti-trust suits against the Standard Oil Company and the railroads commenced therewith in three weeks at the latest. The district attorneys of a number of States, who were here recently in conference with the Attorney General and President Roosevelt, have complied with their instructions to expedite action, and have notified the department that much progress has already been made.

Announcing that the total expenditures of the government for the ensuing year as authorized by their recent session of Congress amount to $740,726,886; Chairman Tawney of the appropriation committee today estimates the revenues at $731,573,364; thereby leaving a surplus in the Treasury on July 1, 1907 of $40,846,478. His statement, voluminous in character and intended as a republican campaign document, was made public today. Accompanying it, is a democratic statement by Representative Livingston, condemning the "extravagance" of the republicans.

A canvass of republican sentiment in Washington, on the eve of the departure of Senators and Representatives for their homee, revealed a majority conviction that Secretary of War William H. Taft is a long ways ahead in the race for the next republican presidential nomination.

The President has accepted the resignation of First Lieutenant Provence McCormick, of the marine corps. Lieut McCormick is a native of Virginia and entered the marine corps in 1900.

The State Department has word this morning from Governor Magoon, of the canal zone, stating that the election of parliamentary delegates yesterday passed off without incident. Quiet reigned in all the election districts.

Congress having adjourned everything was quiet about the Capitol today.

Congressman Rixey and most of the other Vrrginia congressmen have gone to their homes.

An ice famine is threatened here.

The voluntary retirement of four captains, one commander and nine lieutenant-commanders in the navy was announced today.

Woman Kills Herself

Mrs. Fanny Bryan, fifty-seven years old, wife of Augustus T. Bryan, a clerk in the office of the Auditor of the Treasury, shot and instantly killed herself last evening at her home, 1815 G street northwest Washington. Her body was found in a bedroom on the second floor by her husband at 7:30 o'clock. He notified the police. Mrs. Bryan, according to her husband, had been an invalid for six years. For the past four years she had been outside of the house but once. Mrs. Bryan, in addition to a nervous affliction, suffered frequently from melancholia. Monday afternoon she visited the dentist and had several teeth extracted. This added greately to the nervousness and made her melancholy more pronounced, Friday she overworked herself in the house and was prostrated by the heat. These are the reasons which her husband believes caused her to end her life.

Brooding over the loss of her baby, Mrs. Nettie Sanders, twenty-one years old, made the third unsuccessful attempt to end her life in the last three weeks, by inhaling gas yesterday morning at her home, 1318 Emerson street northeast. She was discovered in an unconscious condition yesterday morning at 8 o'clock by her husband, Richard H. Sanders, on his return from work. Mrs. Sanders was immediately taken to the Casualty Hospital.

CONGRESS ADJOURNS.

Congress adjourned at 10 o'clock Saturday night. For the first time in many years the President of the United States was not at the Capitol when the session ended. Mr. Roosevelt remained in the President's room until 6:30 o'clock, growing each moment more impatent at the delay of the government printing office in sending up enrolled bills for his signature and then went to the White House. He did not return to the Capitol in the evening. When he left the building he remarked, sharply, that he had waited long enough. He hurried home, and, clearing up the business on his desk with a rush, he dined and awaited all evening the bills that were sent to him for signature. About 9 o'clock the committee of senators and representatives call on him to notify him that Congress would adjourn at 10 o'clock and he sent back the customary message, that he had no further business. He left Washington at midnight for Oyster Bay.

Both houses killed time according to their mind. The representatives gathered in groups and sang songs; the senators fumed and fretted in the hot cloakrooms and abused the public printer for his delay in not hurrying the printing of the bills.

The closing scenes in the Senate were formal and without interest.

After the series of recesses in the Senate the vice president, at 9:30 o'clock, attached his signature to the public building bill, the last legislative act of the session, and a brief recess was taken. At 9:40 Messrs. Nelson and Blackburn returned from their visit to the White House and the former stated that the President had asked them to inform the Senate that he had nothing further to communicate.

A few minutes before 10, Mr. Blackburn, chairman of the democratic caucus, presented the usual resolution of thanks to Vice President Fairbanks for his uniform courtesy and impartiality. To this Mr. Fairbanks cordially replied. The senators and galleries applauded. Then the gavel fell and the Senate stood adjourned.

The House was a vaudeville show for crowded galleries during the last half hour. Mr. Williams, the minority leader, made a humorous speech, and Mr. Hamilton amused the members and the galleries by telling funny stories from the clerk's desk. The doors were thrown open to anyone who cared to come on the floor.

At 7:45 o'clock Mr. Payne, of New York, the floor leader of the majority, offered the customary resolution preceding adjournment. Representatives Payne, of New York; Burton, of Ohio, and Williams, of Mississippi, were appointed members of the committee to wait upon the President. Recess was then taken until 8:50.

Mr. Heflin rose in his place and said: "You are now sitting where you should have sat for the past four years."

Mr. Williams, bowing gravely, replied: "The point is well taken," which convulsed both members and the galleries.

At 9:30 o'clock Mr. Wachter, chairman of the committee on enrolled bills, accompanied by Clerk McDowell, carried to the White House the omnibus public building bill. The fastest automobile in Washington was employed to carry this last important measure to the President for his signature. Mr. Wachter made a wager that he would have the bill signed within twenty minutes and be back in time for the House to adjourn at 10 o'clock.

At 9:50 the committee appointed to wait on the President returned, and Mr. Payne, addressing the House, stated that they had performed the mission intrusted to them, and that the President had no further message to communicate to the Congress.

Speaker Cannon recognizing that the House had thrown all dignity to the wind, remained in his own room until a minute or two before 10 o'clock. Then he took his place, and, standing at his chair, read a short address, in which he thanked the House for its courtesy and praised it for its industry. The correspondents in the press gallery, just over the Speaker's chair, sang with fervid earnestness and fine harmony, "Praise God From Whom All Blessings Flow," and the members cheered.

The work accomplished by the Congress that terminated today was commented upon as follows by Speaker Cannon:

"In my judgment, the work done and the legislation enacted in the session just closed exceeds in importance, for the best interests of all the people of the republic, the work of any session during my 30 years of public life. I have not time to make a complete review of all the legislation. Suffice it to say that the legislation covering appropriations and authorization of public expenditures has been most carefully considered and wisely enacted. "The legislation commonly referred to the rate legislation, the pure food bill, the inspection features of the agricultural bill are all measures that affect the interests of all the people, and while nothing perfect can be enacted, I am satisfied that the operation of these laws will demonstrate their wisdom. And I believed if nothing else had been acomplished than the enactment of these three measures they alone would be sufficient to make the first session of the Fifty-ninth Congress a memorable one in the history of the republic."

President Roosevelt Saturday night, on the adjournment of Congress, dictated a statement concerning the work accomplished during this session just concluded. He says that the Congress has done more substantive work along the lines of "real constructive statesmanship" than has been accomplished at any session of Congress with which the President is familiar. He says that men of genuine patriotism have a right to feel "a profound satisfaction in the entire course of this Congress."

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and useless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

TERRIBLE RAILROAD ACCIDENT

Driving at a mad pace over the London Southwestern Railway the American line express, carrying 43 of the steamer New York's passengers from Plymouth to London, plunged from the track just after passing the station at Salisbury, at 1:57 o'clock yesterday morning and mangled to death in its wreckage 23 passengers who sailed from New York June 23 and four of the trainmen. Besides those to whom death came speedily a dozen persons were injured some of them severly.

The late hour of the New York's arrival at Plymouth saved many lives. The steamer carried more than 60 travelers for London, but many of them elected to travel on comfortably to Southampton in preference to the late landing at Plymouth and the long night ride across the country. If the New York had made a faster passage the somber roster of the dead and injured would have been longer. The big American line steamer reached Plymouth at 9:35 p. m. Saturday, and half an hour later there was a tender alongside to receive passengers for England. Several who had planned to debark and packed their baggage decided at the last moment to remain aboard.

The train consisted of a powerful express engine, three first class corridor coaches and one combination guards' van and buffet. The passengers were soon entrained, and at 11:30 the express pulled out. It was given a clear track on the run of 230 miles to London, on which the express generally maintains an average speed of a mile a minute.

Driver Robins quickly gave the engine her head, and the special was soon speeding swiftly through the night. It ran on safely and without incident until it entered the long railway yard at Salisbury, when the passengers noted that the coaches began swaying from side to side.

Suddenly at the end of the long platform, where the track begins to curve toward the bridge spanning Fisherton street the main avenue of the city, the engine seemed fairly to leap from the track. It swung across the adjoining track with terrific force and destroyed the guard's van of a milk train that was slowly steaming in the opposite direction, killing a guard. Lurching forward the locomotive plunged against the standards and girders of the bridge. The bridge withstood the impact and, rebounding, the engine crossed into another engine which was standing on a siding and overturned. The wreckage of the two engines interlocked in a great broken mass of twisted steel and iron. Throughout the wild plunging of the engine Driver Robins, whether alive or dead, remained in his cab. Hours afterward his charred body was found grilled over the firebox.

The first coach shot over the engine and careened onward until it was hurled against the parapet of the bridge and smashed into fragments, killing or maiming almost every occupant. One man was shot through the window, cleared the parapet and fell to his death to the street.

The second coach lurched forward and rolled toward a stationary train and practically destroyed itself before its wild flight was ended.

The guard's van and buffet, the rearmost car of the train, was saved by the courage and quickness of Guard Richardson. With the first shock Richardson jumped forward and set the brakes and saved himself and his comrades. The van plowed forward, injuring some of its occupants, but practically maintained its equilibrium.

The surviving passengers and trainmen describe the sound of the wreck as like the discharge of a series of heavy guns of varied caliber, and when the crashing of the wreck was past there came calls of the injured, some shrieking with pain and fear and others moaning as if bewildered by the shock.

Relief came quickly, although it was an hour before the last body was dragged from the wreck. The police, attracted by the noise, called ambulances and surgeons and warned the hospitals to prepare to receive the injured. The railway yard quickly filled with police, doctors, nurses, trainmen and volunteers.

The darkness and incredible destruction made the work of rescue exceedingly difficult. Lamps and torches were brought to light the desolate scene. The station was converted into a surgery and the platform was made a mortuary. Several of the dead and injured were imprisonment in compartments and it was necessary to saw away the partitions in order to relieve them. Others were caught under heavy wreckage. Several of the bodies were badly mangled and one woman was decapitated.

Mayor McClellan, of New York, was among the New York's passengers. He at first intended to take the ill-fated train but later changed his mind and remained on the steamer.

No Insurance Commissioner.

The corporation commission Saturday declined to recognize Col. Joseph Button's appointment by the legislature as insurance commissioner. When he appeared to take the oath of office and prepared to give the bond required Chairman Crump refused to administer the oath or accept the bond, stating that there was doubt of the right of the General Assembly to elect the commissioner. Colonel Button, though disappointed, was not taken by surprise, as the question had been before discussed. The suggestion is made by the corporation commission that the matter be taken to court through mandamus proceedings, so as to settle the doubts in the minds of the commissioners as to the right of the legislature to name the commissioner. Col. Button said that he had not decided what he would do, but it is understood that the matter will be taken to the courts at once. The members of the Corporation Commission are all appointees of former Governor Montague, while Col. Button has been an unfaltering supporter of Governor Swanson and Senator Martin.

Confessed Robbery.

John Ennis, a young carpenter of this city, was arrested yesterday by Officers Knight, Ferguson and Arrington charged with entering Mr. R. E. Knight's store in the night and stealing therefrom fountain pens, revolvers, razors, knives, &c. The robbery occurred several weeks ago, since which time efforts have been made to identify the thief. Suspicion had at first been centered upon Ennis, as he had been employed in the enlargement of Mr. Knight's store. Several months ago Ennis was found in the Alexandria Light Infantry armory at night and was sent to the grand jury for allowing himself to be locked in the building. He was not indicted, and the case, it is said, was not dropped altogether, but since then his movements have been watched by the police.

Yesterday morning Ennis, after having been approached by the officers, confessed that he had committed the robbery at Mr. Knight's store and had disposed of the goods at Hugh L. Strider's second hand store in the old City Hotel building. Later Ennis, Strider and Robert Benson, Strider's clerk, were placed under arrest.

State's Attorney S. G. Brent and Police Justice Caton subsequently had a consultation with Benson at police headquarters, and he agreed to show the police where certain alleged stolen articles could be found on Strider's premises. Benson was accompanied to the store by Policemen Garvey and Beach, who recovered several articles that Ennis claimed to have stolen from Mr. Knight's store.

During the day friends of Strider offered to furnish bail in any amount for his release, but neither Judge Barley, of the Corporation Court, nor Police Justice Caton would consider an application in the form in which it was presented.

Strider and Ennis were arraigned in the Police Court this morning.

Ennis and Strider were arraigned in the Police Court at 11 o'clock this morning. The accused were represented by Mr. Robinson, Moncure and Commonwealth's Attorney S. G. Brent conducted the prosecution.

Mr. R. E. Knight during the examination of the case identified goods found in Ennis's house and in Strider's store as his property, and stated that Ennis had confessed to the robbery. Mr. Knight, in answer to a question, said he had been approached by three residents who suggested that the case against Strider could be compromised, and an offer was made to reimburse him for his loss.

Ennis in his statement went into all the details of the robbery of the store, and stated that he had been approached by Strider three days after the robbery. The latter accused him of robbing the store, which Ennis at first denied. Strider suggested that he had better bring the stuff to his store, as the police suspected him (Ennis) and would search his house. On the Saturday following Ennis said he took pens, knives, pistols, &c., to Strider who gave him $4.

Strider in his defense denied Ennis's statement, and said he paid him $1.50 for some articles he brought him.

During the examination Ennis, in answer to a question of the Commonwealth's Attorney, said he had visited a poker room on the north side of King street, between Royal and Pitt. He also gave the name of the proprietor and those of some of the patrons. Ennis was asked if liquor was sold on the premises. He said it was not directly sold, but there was a "rake off" on every hand, and the money thus realized, he supposed, paid for the liquor.

Ennis was sent on to the grand jury, and Strider was fined $100 and sentenced to serve six months in jail. The latter noted an appeal. His bail was fixed at $1,000. He was later released, Mr. Robt. Ballenger becoming his surety. Ennis was taken to jail.

Deaths.

Mr. Peyton B. Dearborn, a young jeweler of this city, son of Mr. George W. Dearborn, died suddenly yesterday morning in his apartments over the jewelry store at 627 King street. He was about twenty-eight years of age and is survived by his wife and young child. He was apparently in excellent health yesterday morning, but complained of the intense heat. Mr. Dearborn had previously visited a drug store and taken medicine for the ailment from which he was suffering. He was lying on a couch, when he suddenly called to his wife that he was dying, and expired before a physician could be summoned. The deceased was a member of Alexandria Lodge of Elks and was popular with all who knew him. Dr. Moore, the Coroner, after viewing the body, decided that Mr. Dearborn's death was caused by exhaustion from heat. The remains were forwarded this morning to Amherst, the former home of the deceased, where the interment will be made. The pallbearers were Messrs. M. Quinn, Jos. Drew, R. F. Downham, John Lucas, C. H. Irick and Chas. Geisendaffer. Two members of the Elks and two of the Heptasophs accompanied the remains to Amherst.

Mrs. Anna M. Fadely, wife of Mr. M. M. Fadeley, a native of this city but now a resident of Ashburn, and a sister of Mrs. William A. Moore, of this city, died at the Georgetown University Hospital, in Washington, about 7 o'clock yesterday morning. The body was brought to Alexandria yesterday, and the funeral services will be held at the Second Presbyterian Church tomorrow.

Pearl Hawkins, colored, arrested by Officer Beach charged with stealing $10 from Chas. Peters, colored, was fined $10.

A white and a colored man, arrested by Officers Beach and Henderson on complaint of a colored woman, who charged them with assault, were dismissed, the complainant failing to appear. A warrant for her arrest for contempt was issued.

George Shirley, colored, arrested by Officer Bell charged with assaulting Maggie Allen, was fined $10. A warrant was issued for the arrest of the latter, as it was shown by the evidence that she was also guilty of disorderly conduct.

Hugh L. Strider, arrested by the same officers charged with receiving stolen property, was fined $100 and sentenced to serve six months in jail. An appeal was taken.

Attractions at Luna Park.

Arrangements are under way for the celebration of Alexandria Day at Washington Luna Park on July 23. On that day the park will be turned over absolutely to the people from this city and a special programme of local interest will be arranged in order to lend the proper atmosphere to the big event. A list of sports will be one of the features of the afternoon and a large number of booklets descriptive of Alexandria and its environment will be distributed on the grounds. There will be the usual band concerts in the afternoon and evening and plans are being made to have both programmes redolent of the Sunny South and made up of the familiar airs which are so dear to the heart of the Virginian. In order to handle the large crowds which are expected to take advantage of this occasion, the Washington, Alexandria and Mt. Vernon Railway will put a special car service into effect, running on a three or four minutes headway.

Rivela's Imperial Band will occupy the musical shell all of this week, having opened yesterday afternoon and last night with two exceptionally fine sacred concerts.

Ella Zuila, the famous of all women high wire artists, will perform some remarkable aerial feats at 8:45 and 8:45 daily. Mlle. Zuila comes direct from the Crystal Palace, London, where she has been featured as the star attraction. Today the Washington Elks entertained 300 orphans and an elaborate programme was arranged for the event.

Funerals.

The funeral of the late J. Frank Cook took place this morning from his home on north Washington street and was attended by many friends and acquaintances, as well as by members of the Columbia Fire Company and the Eagles of this city, of which organizations the deceased had been a member. The pallbearers were Conductors Glover and Jones, of the Pullman Car Co.; Julian Knight and Jacob Brill, of the Eagles, and Charles Duffey and John Travers, of the Columbia Fire Company. The interment was made in the Union cemetery. The services were conducted by Rev. Charles D. Bulla, of the Methodist Church South.

The funeral services of the late Mrs. Mary Kell took place from her late residence at 807 Cameron street at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The interment was made in the Methodist Protestant cemetery. Rev. Charles D. Bulla conducted the services. The pallbearers were Dr. M. W. O'Brien and Messrs. S. H. Lunt and S. L. Monroe, nephews of the deceased, and Messrs. E. K. and J. K. O'Brien and E. J. Alexander, grandsons.

Yesterday.

The hot wave was in evidence again yesterday. Late Saturday evening a heavy storm passed north of this city when a refreshing breeze set in from that quarter of the compass. It died out, however, about ten o'clock and a hot night followed. The heat kept many people of this city within doors yesterday, although thousands of Washingtonians passed up and down the river on steamboats. At the close of the day many from both cities visited Luna Park, and it was after midnight before they returned to their homes.

Weather Bureau reports last night were that the hot wave had been partially broken, although because of the moistness of the atmosphere in the region east of the Mississippi river the weather is still very uncomfortable. A high pressure which has developed in the northwest has brought at least temporary relief, and more pleasant conditions are predicted for tomorrow.

The Ice Supply.

As there is apprehension in Washington concerning the scarcity of ice and in order to allay such in Alexandria, the Mutual Ice Company announces that it has and shall continue to have an ample supply of ice to fill all requirements of Alexandrians, as their plant is in first class condition, but fearing that this season would be unparalleled in the history of the ice business the company has made ample provisions for any breakdown that it might have and under no circumstances will the price of ice be advanced to the retail trade and the citizens can rest assured that there will be no curtailment of the necessary amount of ice.

Four Persons Killed.

In attempting to get out of the way of a north bound freight train about a mile north of Orange yesterday morning two colored women and two colored girls were killed by south bound Southern passenger train No. 9. The double-track of the Southern Railway extends as far as Orange, and the women and girls, unaware of the fact that No. 9 was approaching, stepped from the track used by north bound trains, directly in front of No. 9, and before they realized their peril were struck and instantly killed.

Struck by Automobile.

Mrs. Warren Harding, of Alexandria, sustained contusions of the arms and lower limbs, and was badly shocked by being struck by an automobile, at Market and Juniper streets, Philadelphia, yesterday morning. Mrs. Harding, accompanied by her husband and their little daughter, had just arrived in the city and the three were on their way from the Reading Terminal to the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel. The chauffeur was arrested, but he was subsequently discharged, as Mr. and Mrs. Harding declined to prosecute, all the parties agreeing that the accident was unavoidable. Although Mrs. Harding was pretty badly shocked and bruised, it was said that she would not suffer any permanent harmful effects from the accident.

The Tuberculosis Congress.

Dr. William M. Smith, Alexandria, Virginia:

My Dear Doctor:—I have appointed you a delegate from Virginia to the American National Congress on Tuberculosis, which meets in New York city on November 14, 15 and 16, 1906. I have been urgently requested by the officials of the Congress to make a good selection of physicians as delegates to this Congress, which it is thought will be largely attended, and it is hoped that good results may accrue therefrom. Knowing your efficiency and reputation as a physician I have named you as one of the delegates and hope you will be able to attend. I herewith enclose your commission.

Very truly yours,
CLAUDE A. SWANSON,

A Whistle Language.

They have a whistle language on Gomera island, in the Canary archipelago. They can whistle there as articulately as a Bostonian speaks. And, since they can whistle very loud and shrill, the Gomeras can converse a long way off. A Gomera hunting a mile from home can ask his wife what there is for lunch, and, if the menu does not please him, he can scold her and order a change quite as well as though he stood beside her.

The Gomeras talk in a singsong, and their whistle language reproduces the spoken one's intonations. For instance, children all over America have a taunting cry:

"Hiss for shame,
Hiss for shame,
Everybody knows your name!"

This cry is not sung. It is intoned. And so the Gomeras intone their guttural language. It would be quite easy to whistle the "Hiss for shame" cry. So it is quite easy to whistle the Gomeras' singsong language.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Beyond the Limit.

"I don't mind folks borrowing," said Miss Hodges plaintively to an old friend who was paying her a visit, "but I've got an awful trying woman for a neighbor just now. She borrows such queer things I'm most out of patience with her."

"Shears and brooms and the flour sifter and ironing board, I s'pose," said the guest, who had known life in a country town.

"Mercy me, I don't count such things!" said Miss Hodges. "Nor my best umbrella nor my carving knife. I can make shift to get on without them for awhile any time. But when she come over to borrow my diary the other day so's she could keep account of the weather and her hens' eggs and so on till her husband came back from California, she having given him hers to put down his expenses and sights in, so's she could copy her record in from my book in the right place I declare, I called it the cap sheaf!"—Youth's Companion.

Take a Fresh Start.

As the horses trot down to the wire in a long, straggling line a race official bangs a bell and the whole field turns and goes back to try again. A fresh start is necessary. But it is not only on the race tracks that fresh starts are essential to the achievement of results. There are countless instances of business firms taking fresh starts after visitations of misfortune. Individuals without number daily turn their backs upon discouragements of the past and take a fresh start. The man who fails is he who is unwilling to do battle over again. An individual suffers everlasting failure if, when confronted by obstacles, he refuses to gird up his loins and take a fresh start. Fresh starts are the foes of sluggishness and laziness and the guarantee of a brighter success than could be possible without them.—Baltimore Herald.

Cannot Supply Gasoline.

That the Standard Oil Company is unable to supply gasolice of high grade, is startling news to owners of automobiles motorboats and gasoline engines in general. Not being able to supply the enormous demand for high grade gasoline, the Standard Oil Company has notified all its customers that gasoline testing from 74 to 76 degrees has been withdrawn from the market. The company is, it was stated, unable absolutely to keep pace with the demand. The high-grade gasoline named is used almost universally in operating automobiles and naptha launches. The hope of the owners of the motors now centers in denatured alcohol, which will be on the list free of government tax next year. By this beneficent new law it will be possible to turn garbage, the offal from vegetable packing houses and the big loads of ruined pineapples that reach port each year into a cheap fuel for engines that, it is claimed, is an excellent substitute for gasoline.

Long Tennessee Fight.

For twenty years W. L. Rawls, of Bells, Tenn., fought nasal catarrh. He writes: "The swelling and soreness inside my nose was fearful, till I began applying Bucklen's Arnica Salve to the sore surface; this caused the soreness and swelling to disappear, never to return." Best salve in existence. 25c at E. S. Leadbeater & Sons', Druggists.

Rojestvensky Pleads Guilty.

The depositions of various officers and sailors of the torpedo-boat destroyer Bedovy, forming the documents in the court-martial of Admiral Rojestvensky and other naval officers, who surrendered to the Japanese in the battle of the Sea of Japan, in May of last year, were published in St. Petersburg yesterday.

The sailors' testimony indicates that the admiral's party boarded the Bedovy with the full intention of surrendering to the first Japanese ship they could encounter. Their initial act was to order a white flag prepared. The officers of the staff of Admiral Rojestvensky and the commander of the Bedovy made a pitiable exhibition in trying to shift the responsibility for the surrender on each other.

Admiral Rojestvensky, though he says he was dazed and out of his head all the time, enters a manly plea of guilty because he took no measures to prevent the surrender.

A Miraculous Cure.

The following statement, by H. M. Adams and wife, Henrietta, Pa., will interest parents and others. "A miraculous cure has taken place in our home. Our child had eczema 5 years and was pronounced incurable, when we read about Electric Bitters, and concluded to try it. Before the second bottle was all taken we noticed a change for the better, and after taking 7 bottles he was completely cured." It's the up-to-date blood medicine and body building tonic. Guaranteed. 50c and $1.00 at E. S. Leadbeater & Sons' drug store.

The Bald Head.

A bald head is a less familiar (and nowadays less true) representative of the unchangeable than the Ethiopian's skin or the leopard's spots, but it was cited in this character with impressive pathos by Hipparchus, one of the seven martyrs of Samosata. After they had been subjected to severe tortures they were at last confronted with seven crosses, and the Emperor Maximian offered them a last chance to recant. But the aged Hipparchus put his hand on his bald head and cried, "As this, according to the order of nature, cannot again be covered with hair, so never will I change or conform to your wish!" Maximian ordered a goat's skin to be nailed to Hipparchus' head and then jeeringly claimed that the condition was fulfilled. But Hipparchus remained obdurate and speedily died on the cross.—London Chronicle.

He Was Absentminded.

The absentminded man is at it again. He had been reading the egg story and decided to try the trick. The first thing to do was to boil the egg. How many minutes? he asked himself, and, going to the stove with the egg in one hand and his watch in the other, he dropped the latter in the hot water. Then, placing the egg on the table, he sat down to read until the time was up. At the end of five or six minutes he was surprised to find the egg lying there before him, but, supposing that he had himself taken it from the kettle and cooled it, he proceeded to crack and peel it. The consequence may be imagined. Finally he missed his watch. The house was searched high and low, and it was not till the following morning that the cook found it in the kettle, where it had been boiling for hours.—Exchange.

Whales.

Whales, though they are mammals, are fitted to live like fishes in water. The true whales are of two kinds of families—the spermaceti whale, which has teeth in the lower jaw, and the whalebone whale, which has none. Of the first named there are two species, the cachalot and the sperm, which when full grown measures from seventy to eighty feet. The capture of this animal is attended with greater danger than that of the whalebone or Greenland whale on account of its formidable teeth.

Gave Him a Start.

Holding up a pair of antique candlesticks, an auctioneer said:

"Give me a start."

"What!" exclaimed the horrified auctioneer.

"Ah," said the bidder, "I thought that would give him a start!"

Reckless.

Doctor (to wife of patient)—Be brave, madam. It is my painful duty to inform you that in twenty-four hours your husband will be no more.

The Wife (overwhelmed with grief, but at the same time having regard to expense)—Good gracious! And you have prescribed medicine for five days at least.
